Call for Proposal Structure

Title: Your goal is no different than writing a headline for an article or an email subject line: What will get the reader to keep reading? Clever is good, but authenticity is key. It should entice people to read the description and include enough information, so they'll understand the topic even if they don't read the description.

Short Description: Focus on WIIFM - participants want to know: what's in it for me? Session descriptions should address how the session will benefit individual attendees and/or their organizations. Make a case for why this topic is important, urgent, and helpful.

Session Type:

- Individual Presenter
- Interactive Workshop
- Panel (Speaker Limit - 4) Only one speaker is required when submitting the proposal.

I&E Track Categories

- Emerging Technologies: This track will focus on future trends and technologies that could help identify inefficiencies, boost productivity, improve safety, and much more.
- Law Enforcement: These sessions will be tailored to the specific needs of the Law Enforcement Group, and may cover topics from best practices, emerging technologies, leadership, strategy and/or sustainability.
- Leadership: Leadership development is essential to foster a culture of excellence and drive successful outcomes. In this track, learn critical strategies to improve your leadership skills and business competencies.
- Operations Management: These sessions aim to share real life experiences and proven processes to help improve your overall fleet management operation.

- Sustainability: Guide fleet professionals to prepare for a greener future by providing impactful strategies and education. In this track, attendees will discover ideas and tools to help improve the efficiency and sustainability of their fleet operations.

Tips for Developing an Effective Session

Session Goal:

- Identify a clear goal for your presentation. What core issue or challenge does your session address or attempt to resolve?
- Stay at a strategic level as much as possible, avoid getting too tactical
- Beginner/tactical level is acceptable if you are exploring a new concept
- Intermediate/advanced level is expected for a majority of NAFA content

Speakers:

- How many speakers/points of view do you need for a well-rounded session?
- Avoid bringing in too many speakers or the key points may get muddled and session interactivity will be difficult. (NAFA allows for a max of four speaker per session.)
- Pro tip - For every fifteen minutes of presentation, plan an activity to engage the audience and reinforce the main themes you are covering.

Tips for Developing an Effective Session

Content Focus:

- Consider if this topic needs to be narrowed or broadened to be effective.
- If the topic itself is not new, how would you approach presenting this in a unique and thought-provoking way that meets the needs of NAFA participants now?
- Ensure the content is not promotional. Attendees are quick to notice any commercialism resulting in distrust between the audience and the speaker and the brand. If you are a supplier, the best way to gain credibility is to demonstrate your expertise and authority about the topic generally, and not mention how your solution is preferred. In addition, consider bringing in a client to co-present.
- Are the key takeaways scalable for the NAFA audience of different sizes and budgets? Include tips for scalability.
- Research shows that sharing learnings through stories helps ensure that content sticks. Plan to share a few stories to illustrate the key takeaways.

Coordinators

What is the Role of a Coordinator?

The coordinator is responsible for all communication during the submission and review process of the Call for Proposals.

If the proposal is accepted, the coordinator will:

- Be the liaison to the speaker(s)
- Provide all contact information for speakers
- Responsible for submitting the presentation material to NAFA
- Coordinate rehearsals with the speakers

Note: NAFA will communicate directly with speakers regarding the submission of their bio, headshot, and signed the speaker agreement.

How Proposals Are Evaluated

- Value of proposal topic
- Timeliness and appropriateness of topic
- Proposal title, description and learning objectives support the content of the proposal
- Commercial influence or product bias is avoided

Most Frequent Reasons Proposals are Declined

- Title inaccurately reflects content
- Learning objectives do not match the sessions description
- Proposal contains incomplete information
- An attempt to pitch a product/service exists
